Comon!

sound installation

stroboscopic lights, sound system, CD player, CD

2005

CSAV, Fondazione Ratti, Area ex-Ticosa, Como, July 2005

The installation was realized in the Ex-Ticosa, a wide disused area in Como, used to be a textile industry that has been dismantled for more than twenty years. The entire area, very close to the city centre, has become a shelter for homeless people, a refuge for junkies, a place for weird encounters...

A fake techno-party takes place in the run-down C-shaped main building. A powerful stroboscopic light flashes from the windows of the third floor. Outside the building people can hear sounds and noises coming from the fake dance party.

However the building interior spaces are unreachable for the visitors: the public intervention can only be seen from the car park and the main road next to it.

The installation was made for the final course exhibition of Fondazione Ratti.
